

If you've got access to a scanner, try scanning your beadwork instead of photographing it! If it doesn't come out to your liking, try repositioning it on the scanner. Once scanned, it is easy to adjust the picture using Photoshop or other imaging software (which often come with the scanner).